

Consumer Product Recall

AXON

Crisis Management

Axon's Consumer Product Recall Insurance policy is designed to protect manufacturers, distributors, retailers and wholesalers of consumer goods in the event of a product defect or impairment.

With a rising trend in product recalls in the United States, Axon's Consumer Product Recall Insurance protects the Insured from financial losses which can originate from a product defect, adverse publicity, government recall, malicious product tampering, product extortion demand or property impairment.

The coverage options target the economic impact deriving from recall efforts, replacement or restoration of products, third party recall, loss of gross profit, rehabilitation, marketing, and crisis expert response costs.
